

Bugle is now morning—so let me get up—for you have come to teach us how to defend our country at the South and that is what I do. Every such the presence of the bugle and bugle. Introducing in Memphis, Jan. 18. What is the news?
Say, how to break men? or break men? Present? The present? The present? The present? The present?
The present? The present? The present?
The present? The present? The present?
The present? The present? The present?

Dreadful Accident seventy-five Lives Lost.

A steamship, the "Crescent," bound for the Southern Islands, after leaving New York,触礁于浅水区，撞沉于 在新奥尔良，造成七十人丧生。乘客 中，有船员、商人、妇女、儿童等。 船员们在船上工作时，突然发现 船身漏水，立即设法堵漏，但因水 势汹涌，无法堵住，于是决定弃船。 乘客们纷纷跳入海中，但因海水 温度过低，许多人被冻死或淹死。 幸存者中有许多是妇女和儿童， 他们被救上岸后，立即被送往医院。 然而，由于伤势严重，许多人都 因感染而死亡。

The accident occurred during the night, and it was not until morning that the full extent of the tragedy was known.

Out of 150 passengers who had been on board, only 72 were found perished. Men, women, and little children, husbands, wives, sons, and mothers, were heaped upon the floor in disorder, some with their clothes torn off, some with their hands and faces mangled, some with the bones broken, mangled and distorted with the convulsions produced by suffocation.

The following is a description of the scene which met the eye of the mate when a strange passenger, who had, at last, forced his way out, communicated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the real nature of the sad catastrophe exhibited itself. There lay in heaps the living, the dying, and the dead, one fighting man of mangled agony and

a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and distorted with the convulsions produced by suffocation. They digged

out a passage, but could not find a way through. Then, after many hours, they gave up all hope of finding a way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, communicated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

ed, another, his limbs broken and
distorted with the convulsions pro-

duced by suffocation. They digged
out a passage, but could not find a
way through. Then, after many hours,
they gave up all hope of finding a
way out, and returned to the cabin.

They had been confined in the cabin
for more than twenty-four hours, and
had, at last, forced their way out, com-

municated to him the terrible intelligence:

"The mate instantly became alarmed,
and, obtaining a lantern, went down
to render assistance. Such, however,
was the foul air of the cabin, that the
light was immediately extinguished.

A second was obtained, and, in too,
was extinguished. At length, on the
tarpaulin being completely removed,
and a free access of air admitted, the
real nature of the sad catastrophe exhi-

bited itself. There lay in heaps the
living, the dying, and the dead, one
fighting man of mangled agony and
a life past death, upon the floor, stand-

</div